Cellulose film

Cellulose is an organic compound, primary constituent of plants and particularly of wood. The cellulose film is 100% bio-based and compostable.

It is perfectly transparent and can be transformed into bags by using glue. Its oxygen barrier extends the shelf life of fresh products.

Biopaper & Cellulose

This paper made from agricultural residues and coated with a cellulose film combines the principles of circular economy: the use of a secondary raw material and a renewable source.

Together they form an eco-friendly solution suitable for direct food contact, bio-based and compostable. It is heat-sealable providing a hermetic closure.

It is lightweight and consequently improves efficiency in distribution.
